THE HIGHLY ANTICIPATED BATOR INTERNATIONAL
23RD ANNUAL DAYTONA CLASSIC MOTORCYCLE AUCTION AND SWAP MEET HITS THE HOME STRETCH!

Check out this year's auction, promising to be the biggest and best ever, with over 200 bikes on the block!

Wednesday March 3 through Saturday March 6, 2010.
Stetson University, Edmunds Center, Daytona Beach, FL

- Glenn Bator brings his Classic Motorcycle Auction and Swap Meet to Daytona! Coinciding with Bike Week, Saturday's auction will showcase several classic and antique motorcycles, including a very rare Harley 1929 JDH, previously owned by Bud Ekins and used in the movie "The Rocketeer". The bike was sold to the Otis Chandler Vintage Museum, and later fully restored by Glenn Bator in 1993.

- A few nostalgic faves include:

A 1950 Harley Davidson replica of "Tex" Keeler's motorcycle painted by Norman Rockwell and used for the Saturday Evening Post cover shot.

An all original paint 1929 Indian 45ci Hill Climber

A very rare 1970 Munch Mammut 1100cc Four Cylinder

A beautifully restored 1969 Hungarian built Panonia with Duna Sidecar. Very cool, classic Jet Age styling.

- Friday March 5 – Come check out our Parts and Memorabilia Auction, including a huge inventory of rare "NOS" new old stock Italian motorcycle parts for Benelli, Ducati, Gilera and others! Also many American, German, British and Japanese parts will be selling at NO RESERVE!
- All Brands Swap Meet and Trade Show will take place Wednesday through Saturday, and promises to host a colorful array of motorcycle parts, memorabilia and other items.

Daytona Bike Week is one of the biggest motorcycle events in the world, held annually at Daytona Beach, Florida. Traditionally the grand opening of the motorcycle season, it hosts over 500,000 bikers.
